

Recurring Payment Reminders

- ❖ When establishing an RPO for recurring payments, the document must have separate commodity lines for each fiscal year of the supporting contract or lease. Commodity line service dates must be for only one fiscal year. If the service dates span multiple fiscal years, end of year payments will attempt to pay from the next fiscal year's accounting line, as well as the current fiscal year's accounting line. When this happens, payments (PRM) reject. To avoid rejected PRMs, departments must establish separate commodity line for each fiscal year.
- ❖ When a modification is done to reduce a commodity line and its companion accounting line down to the spent amount, or to zero, if nothing has been spent, it is critical that a department checks the SIG table in MMARS for any open records against the commodity line that is being modified. The open lines on SIG must be put on HOLD status. If the open record is not held, the RIN will keep rejecting with the error "SC amount is required for service line type. (A647)". If there are no funds available on the line; the system will pull in $0 from the closed line. See examples below:
